to Cape Town. I am sure Susan will not hesitate.⁵¹

"I will do whatever my husband wishes," Mrs.
Wolston said.

Fritz and Frank shook James Wolston's hand warmly as Dolly kissed her sister-in-law.

"While the corvette stays here," James Wolston
then explained, "we expect you all to accept the hospitality of our house. That will be the best way to knit our friendship, and we will talk as much as you please about New Switzerland."

Naturally the passengers on the Unicorn accepted
this invitation in the spirit in which it had been offered.

An hour later Mr. and Mrs. James Wolston
received their guests. Fritz and Frank were given a "*"' room between them, and Jenny shared the one allotted to Dolly, as she had shared her cabin during the voyage.

. Mrs. James Wolston was a young woman of twenty-four, gentle, intelligent, and devoted to her husband. He was an earnest and active man, very much like his father. They had one boy, Bob, now
five years old, whom they adored.

During the ten days that the Unicorn remained in the port, from the 17th to the 27th of December, little was talked about but New Switzerland, the events of which it had been the stage, the various works undertaken, and the many contrivances and ^
